[Special Correspondence of the Louisville Journal.] LETTER FROM EASTPORT, MISS.

HEADQUARTERS 5TH DIV., CAVALRY CORPS,) MILITARY DIVISION OF THE MISSISSIPPI. EASTPORT, MISS., Feb 17, 1865.) You will bear me witness, that, as a general bing, I am patient with the necessary evils which are dumped down on our unhappy country, and treat with a degree of liberality those chaps who are so benighted as to disagree with me in regard to the policy which should be pursued toward the misgnided Confederacy. Early in the war I was compelled to advance certain opinions in regard to humanity which I regret to say some others didn't see. I then advocated to say, some others didn't see. I then advocated one of two courses—to permit the disaffected States to go to the devil on their own hook, believing they would very soon seek a retrograde route, or, this course repudlated, to commence, wherever the Confederate flag was found, to burn and destroy as we went, making every foot of ground over which we passed uninhabitable. Of course I expected the inhabitants to be sent North or South, as their "affinities" might dictate, with all their household goods and household goods. Both these courses have been considered impolitic, and one of them in-buman; and yet I have known, but never-seen, houses robbed of every article of value, and every article of subsistence, once, wice, thrice, in as many mouths. The debata-ble and disputed territory has been required to be tribute to one side or the other every two ention? Or was it simply that he had not time or rewrite the paragraph in language to suit Many persons assume the first explanation, and with these persons there is a regular panic on the subject. When it was declared at the Bourse two or three days after the delivery of the Imperial speech, by persons of consequence, that there had been a suppression made in the speech on account of the news from America, there was a great fall in the Mexican bonds and a general fright among the politicians who occar. psy tribute to one side or the other every two or three weeks since the war began, while my plan would have simply disrupted family ties and home associations, disconnected with the ten thousand insults they have been compelled to receive. I do not intend to grow angry that my advice was not taken—my plan adopted; but I am disgusted, mad, disagreeable, and sour "clear through" at the policy now pursued by the Government of the United States. Somewhere I got impressed with the notion that I was battling for the supremacy of the Union, and that to make the laws of the land triumph, private librerests were to give way a general fright among the politicians who oc-cupy themselves especially in Mexican affairs. So also the rebel agents took this view of the case, as it now appears, for there is a conclave case, as it now appears, for there is a conclave of these gentlemen now sitting here, composed of Messrs. Slidell, Mason, Mann, Buchanan, Rost, and perhaps others, who are working with great energy, and, as I hear on all sides, with great hope for a recognition of the Confederacy and an alliance with Maximilian. On one side I hear that they base their hope of a recognition on the threatening attitude of the North toward France, and on the other that they are trying to obtain an indirect recognition by the argument that, as there was no election held in any of the States in rebellion, Mr. Lincoln can only be recognized as President of the States which voted at the election. But it is hardly to be supposed that gentlemen of the intelligence of those who form the present rebel conclave at Paris could be induced to union, and that to make the laws of the land triumph, private interests were to give way—were not to be taken into account. For many weeks I marched in the most disagreeable weather, and bivouacked without blankets, in rain, mud, sleet, and snow. I thought I was doing a "big thing," and that I was crushing the rebellion. When the fight commenced, Dec 15, 1864, the Tennessee river was block-add and the Alabama Georgia, and Missisded, and the Alabama, Georgia, and Missis-ippi cotton ports were sealed. I believe the flicers and men who were with me gave me redit for chavging rebel batteries and rifle-pits ing, and I assure you I never once thought that I was opening the way for the infernal scoundrels for whose pecuniary benefit this war seems to be prosecuted. You see I am becoming very cross, and when I am through you will say I am not angry without cause.

A day or two since the steamer Rosa D., belonging to private citizens, one of whom has a son Assistant Adjutant-General on Roddy's staff, reached this port under convoy of the gamboat Flairplay. This boat was loaded with supplies, to what extent I do not know, but most certainly ten times as much as would supply all the families, loyal or disloyal, in this whole vicinity. Within two miles of where I now sit the lines of the degenerate and unfortunate Confederacy commence, and I am so suspicious as to another at Faris, in which it is shown that even if the rebellion were terminated, it is a mistaken notion to suppose that there would be a large army ready to march into Mexico or Canada, for all these men would have acquired land and money, and would ask nothing better than to settle down to cultivate their lands and become respectable farmers. He says that the conditions between Europe and America are not the same, and that they ought, not to be compared.

tions between Europe and America are not the same, and that they ought not to be compared, for whereas in Europe, when a young man leaves home to go into the army, be finds on his return that his place has been filled up, while in America there is always a demand for workmen, and a liberated soldier can go to work where he pleases. He says also that it is an error to suppose that it is the policy of Mr. Lincoln or Mr. Sowerd to make war on freder countries for Seward to make war on foreign countries for the consolidation of the North and South, and warns his European correspondent not to pay too much attention to the excitation and the clamors of the American press. The appearance of this article in the columns of the Constitutionnel has made a sensation, for it is an argument on the Union side.

Mr. Seward's despatches on the subject of Mexico are now being published here, and are attracting a great deal of attention. In fine, the situation on this Mexican question is to the highest degree delicate, and may at any moment I cannot get rid of the idea that there is blood on every permit issued to sell goods in stene's throw of the enemy's lines. Thomas and Sherman, it is true, are coving in strong force—the one upon Mobile alse upon Grant, and a large Confederate army war has been accepted afresh, with fewer opes of peace, and therefore with more despersue determination. hostilities.' PARLIAMENT. THE HUDSON BAY COMPANY. In the House of Lords on the 23d February, Lord Wharncliffe asked the Government what was the position of the question of the settle-ment of a crown colony in the northwest territory of British America, and when some report would be made to the House upon the subject. He stated that the territory between Upper Canada and the Rocky Mountains was at the Paris, Friday, Feb. 24, 1865. Canada and the Rocky Mountains was at the present moment of great importance, and it was a matter of considerable interest to know, what course was to be pursued with respect to it. Two methods had been proposed, namely: that the territory should be united with Canada, or erected into a separate colony. His own opinion was that it would be unwise to unite so large a tract of land, one so capable of improvement, to Canada, and that the best course would be to erect it into an independent settlement. The great question of the moment in Government circles and at the Bourse is that of America, and, secondarily, that of Mexico. I will try and give you a correct outline of the situation is it at present presents itself. It appears to be certain that the speech of the Emperor from the thronecontained, as late as on the morning before delivery, a paragraph de-claring the intention of the Government to con-tinue its policy of non-intervention in American affairs, and that the reception of the despatch

Earl Granville, in reply, stated that various proposals had been made by the Hudson Bay Company for the settlement of the Red river territory, and counter proposals had also been made by Her Majesty's government, but no arrangement had been concluded. Recently, a further proposal had been made by the Hudson Bay Company, which had been sent to the Canadian government, with a request that they would take immediate steps for defining the boundaries between their territory and that of from New York announcing the departure of Messrs, Lincoln and Seward to meet the Confederate Commissioners at Fortress Monroe, which was received and read by the Emperor an hour or so before the delivery of his speech. nad written on the subject of America.

Now the great question with everybody is, why did his Majesty suppress this paragraph? Was it because the prospect of union between the North and South threatened his Mexican schemes and rendered it necessary that he should not commit himself to the doctrine of non-intervention? Or was it simply that he had not intervention? boundaries between their territory and that of the Hudson Bay Company. In the present state of the negotiations for the confederation of the British American provinces, it would be injudi-cious to decide anything with regard to the erection of the Red river settlement into an in-detendent colony. dependent colony.

In the House of Commons, on the 24th, Mr. Workins asked whether any and what representations had been received from the American Government in reference to the passport system, and the other regulations, tending to non-inter-course, introduced by order of Mr. Seward, on the Canadian frontier.

Mr. Cardwell said the regulations in question were issued in view of the alarm which prevailed in reference to certain proceedings which took place on the frontier, and which entailed great unconvenience upon the Government of the United States. He had not entered into any correspondence on the subject, but he had hoped that as soon as the mischief ceased, the remedy would also be allowed to ease, would, also, be allowed to cease.

GOD SAVE OUR PRESIDENT-A NATIONAL SONG

BY FRANCIS DE HAES JANVIER. All hall! unfur! the Stripes and Stars!
The banner of the free!
The times ten thousand patriots greet
The -hrine of Liberty!
Come, with one heart, one hope, one aim,
An undivided band.

Not to invest a potentate
With robes of majesty;
Not to conter a kingly crown,
Nor bend a subject knee,
We how beneath no sceptred sway
Ovey no royal nod;
Columbia's sons, creet and free,
Kneel only to their God!

Our ruler boasts no titled rank;
No ancient, princely line;
No regal right to sovereignty,
Ancestral and divine.
A patriot, at his country's call
Responding to her voice;
One of the people, he becomes
A sovereign by our choice

And now, before the mighty pile
We've reared to Liberty,
He swears to cherish and defend
The charter of the free!
God of our country! seal his oath
With Thy supreme assent.
God save the Union of the States!
God save cur President!

AN ESCAPED OFFICER -The Chattanooga Ga te of Thursday, says: We had a long con-sation yesterday with an officer who arrive versation yesterday with an officer who arrived in this city, after continement in rebel prisons during the last twenty months. Lieut. James Clements, 15th Kentucky Cavalry, was captured at Jackson, Tennessee, on the 29th day of June, 1863, by a portion of Forrest's command. He had been in nearly all of the rebel prisons for prisoners of war, having been moved from one to the other as our armies approached the places of his captivity. He was under the fire of our runs at Charleston, and was taken to Columbia. On the approach of Sherman's army, six hune six hundred, managed to escape. He had secaped from the prison on three previous occa-sions, but each time had been recaptured and taken back, having been hunted down with dogs. The Lieutenant states there were twelve hundred efficers confined in the grounds of the Lunatic Asylum, at Columbia, South Carolina, ust previous to the approach of Sherman, but preparations were being made to remove all of them to Charlotte or Salisbury, North Carolina Not an ounce of meat has been issued to any of these officers since the 3d day of last October, the only food they received being five pluts of meal, one pint of molasses and one tablespoonful of salt for five days' rations. GUERILLA OUTRAGES IN SOUTHERN KEN-TUCKY. FRANKLIN, Ky., March 13, 1865.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1865.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: In my last I chronicled the villainous and barbarous acts of a party of guerillas who visited a peaceable and quiet neighborhood, some six miles northwest from this place. As "misfortunes come not singly, but in battalions," the same neighborhood was visited last week by another band equally full of villany and steeped in crime. Their operations, however, were further distant from town, and their mode of treating those who were so unfortunate. mode of treating those who were so unfortunate as to fall into their hands was quite different, though more brutal than that practised by the rufflans spoken of in my letter of now forgotten ruffians spoken of in my letter of now forgotten date.

A demand for money is made by all guerillas; pistols inquired for, and watches invariably asked for. After making the preliminary investigations, the party of which I am now speaking sought to enforce their demands not by threats of shooting, but deliberately tied ropes around the necks of their victims and hoisted them in mid-air to make them disgorge their money or tell where it was. This was successfully practised upon a Mr. Hughes, who was at one time a Federal soldier, from whom they wrested about thirty dollars, the hard-earned savings of a kind father for his wife and little ones. They left him, not lifeless, but deeply grieved They left him, not lifeless, but deeply grieved at his loss and sorely afflicted by their unkind and inhuman treatment of him, despite the enand innuman treatment of him, despite the entreaties of his wife.

They next visited a Mrs. Taylor and treated her son Benjamin in the same way, without, however, effecting any gain, for upon the representation of the mother and son, that the gold and silver, which they said they wereafter, were in Russellville, they desisted from any further attempts to make the son tell. The same party visited Auburn on the Memphis Branch Road and obtained from the citizens of that very unfortunate village several hundred dollars. They demanded of Mr. Harry Woodward—a jetanch Union man—seven thousand dollars, with a threat of taking his life, if the amount was not fortheoming. He did not comply, and they led him forth from his family to carry into execution their threat, treaties of his wife.

rimsoned with their blood. VERITAS.

Time Las sufficiently quieted our nerves and estered a healthy circulation to enable one to parrate a consistent story of the troublous hours through which we of Columbia have been led during the past week.

Sherman's advance on Columbia was unexpected. Sudden as surprising, it found all unprepared for the events which followed, and tew cool enough in the crisis to yield to any other than the bent of the first impulse. Hence hundreds are to-day exiles from home who would give almost their all to be safely back. They have learned that being a refuse don't They have learned that being a refugee don'

pay.

Orangeburgh and Kingsville were supposed to be the bighest points northward on that line at which Sherman would strike. The people who planned this campaign thought from thence he would branch off toward Cheraw and Fayetteville, leaving Columbia untouched. Four days dispelled the delusion. Our troops follook path the sounds of campaign reserving. Il back until the sounds of cannon reverber-ted through the city. Then public officers for the first time began to think of removing the ablic stores. The instructions from Richmond ad left many of them no other discretion.

Iurry, exchement, and some confusion became the order of the day. Everyhody, public and rivate, wanted a car. The President of the Charlotte and South Carolina Railroad, Colonel arlotte and South Carolina Rauroac, Colone, m. Johnson, his assistants, Captain Sharpe, agent of transportation, and his aids, now at their energies to the herculean task for them and accomplished all that bett their energies to the herculean task before them, and accomplished all that seen could do. The trains from the South Carolina and Greenville roads were run upon the Charlotte track, filled and hurried away to return and fill again. Engines shricked their signal notes, morning noon, and table. The activity was ceaseless. The deviate were growded with goods of easy descriptions. bearing their freight to the graud finnel out which it was to be discharged. Horses, gons, negroes, everything that could aid in removal of property, was brought into re-until flanked out of the fortifications on the op-posite side of the Congarce, they retired to the limits of the city itself, where a line of battle was again reformed. Three or four shells thrown at the bridge increased the popular agi-tation until it became a fever. The stores were closed, Militia and detailed men were at the front. Army trains began to move through, and the truth at last flashed upon the minds of all, that Columbia must inevitably be evacuated.

Crowds at every depot seeking tempo-rary shelter; some getting off, more getting on; twenty trains thundering one after the other in quick succession; screaming locomotives, crying babies, tearful women, families travelling in bex cars among piles of bacon, salt, bandboxes, trunks, and bed-clothes; a break-down near Winsboro; engine off the track; ten hours delay; enemy reported coming; more consternation; a long night; no wood, no water, no breakfast; ten car-loads of ladies of the Treasurant tracks and the salt of the tracks and the salt of the tracks are tracked to the tracks and the salt of the tracks are tracked to the tracks and the salt of the tracks are tracked to the tracked tracked to the tracked tracked tracked to the tracked trac nick succession; screaming locomotives, cry Department in most unattractive morning ishabille, with hair unkempt, and hollow, deep eyes, shivering about in the red mutillaginor mud; ten or twelve car-loads of Yankee prisoners just ahead, likewise at a dead halt; the guard around their camp-fires, and the individuals of cerulean aspect singing with tremendous en-ergy Union songs; still ahead, the section-masters und brick-layers, with a gang of laborers re-maining the road, and holding post-mortem conpairing the road, and holding post-mortem consultations over the remains of a deserted engine—finally, a run back three miles, a filling of tanks, a freeh start, and arrival at Charlotte. There an avalanche upou the good people, an appeal to hospitality, which is most warmly heeded, and a gradual simmering down of all the elements in agitation. Such, in brief, is the history of our evacuation of Columbia.

Ille would be worth. If we cannot find law in the books for such cases, we will be a law unto ourselves. An ancient people had no law against particide. We, too, may not have provided for some crimes against our safety, supposing them impossible. But the people will not consent to be destroyed by them, neverthaless. We say to our readers—and we say it to stimulate no false hopes, and to excite to no males sacilfices—we say to them in all honesty stimulate no false hopes, and to excite to no useless sacrifices—we say to them in all honesty and sincerity—cur success in this contest. God willing is sure, if we do our duty. The victory is ours unless we voluntarily forfeit it. The game is in our hands unless we choose to throw it away. It all depends on ourselves. There is nothing in the situation to defeat us. We say this on the highest military authority. If Heaven in its wrath were to curse us with meanness of soul that would lead us to renounce the price for which we have toiled so long, renounce the liberties for which the noble army of martyrs have died, and fling away the glorious heritage which our fathers gave us, that, indeed, would be misery, for it would be disgrace, intamy, hopeless ruin, the very blackness The river has fallen one foot five inches, with

APPECTING SCHNE—A FAIR DISTRIBUTION—SIX IN A FAMILY.—The better part of mau's nuture, as well as the worst features, are often made visible at the Supervisor's volunteering room. A whole family, mother and five children leading to the state of the supervisor's results of the superv ren, led by their stalwart head, the husband and father, presented themselves a few days since to Chairman Blunt, in New York, for the six hundred dollars bounty, be, the husband, having just been examined and mustered in. It was a large family, and a sorrowful one, all ex-cept the little tow-headed fellow in its mother's arms, who was leaping and crowing as though —its joys and hopes—was now about up. His children were cliuging to his legs begging him not to leave them; his wife, too full to speak, looked unutterable griefs, and clung all the closer to her babe. The money was all right; he held it in his hand—more than he had owned at once during all his lifetime. "God bless you, wife and children; we must now part, perhaps forever. This money, wife, is yours; but let me dive some to each it will gratify me here is one hundred dollars for you; give it to your mother whenever she wants it. Mary, take this one hundred dollars, be a good girl, and in your prayers remember your father. Come here, my pet Alice, here is one hundred dellars for you to keep until good mamma requires it. And now, my little toad without a name—yes, let us call him Hope; do you say so, wife?" It was assented to. "Then here, you little crowing cook, bless the little fellow! little crowing cock—bless the little fellow! It may never see him again. Kiss me, boy. Here, put this one hundred dollars in your little hand, and don't eat it. but pass it over to your mother as soon as possible." The noble-hearted fellow's heavy frame seemed to quiver all over as be finished his distribution and knew that his as he infished as distribution and knew that his time had come. He embraced each and all separately, and declared himself ready to go. "But," said Mr. Blunt, "there is another hundred dollars coming to you—the hand money. Who brought you here?" "That wee bit of a babe, your honor; I'd never come in the world had it not been for that dear babe." "Well, then the hand money or premium belongs to then, the hand money or premium belongs to him." "Bless me, is it so? Wife, put that one hundred dollars in the savings bank for Hope, and never touch it if you can help it—if you can belp it mind—until he comes of age. God bless the little fellow! He stands well in the world, after all, and may yet be President."

The man stepped upon the platform of the turnstile, and was whirled out of sight of the vorld and al lhe loved. The whole scene was a most touching one—one of true family and long to be remembered by all who Who says that poverty sears and dries up the ving streams of affection, and the maternal ove which we bear to our kind?

SHOULD VICE-PRESIDENT JOHNSON BE IM-PEACHED?—A PRECEDENT CITED—THE REMOVAL OF JUDGE PICKERING IN 1804.—An unfortunate occurrence on Saturday has provoked many an-gry comments, and Mr. Thad. Stevens declares gry comments, and Mr. Thad. Stevens declares that, were the House of Representatives in session, he should move the impendment of a public functionary. The only successful prosecution of an imprachment by the House before the Senate, sitting in a court of impeachment, of the United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire, was tried for unjudical conduct and when it was alleged, in the of the United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire, was tried for unjudicial conduct, and when it was alleged, in the articles of impeachment, that he "did appear upon the bench, for the purpose of administering justice, in a state of total intoxication, produced by the free and intemperate use of ardent spirits, * * * * disgraceful to his own character as a Judge, and degrading to the honor and dignity of the United States." Judge Pickering did not appear before the court, but his son addressed a plaintive appeal, in which he declared that his father, "from his youth upward, through a long, laborious, and useful life, and until he was visited by the most awful dispensation of Providence, the loss of reason, he was unexceptionable in his morals, remarkable for the purity of his habits, and the deviations now complained of are irresistible evidence of the deranged state of his mind." The Senate was not disposed (this was in 1804) to receive the excuse of insanity. Evidence was addicted to intoxication, and the Deputy-Marshal of his court testified that on one occasion he directed the court to be adjourned, saying, "I'm damned drunk, but I'll be sober by the morning." Judge Olcott, in the course of his evidence testified: "Judge Pickering conversed damned drunk, but I'll be sober by the morning." Judge Olcott, in the course of his evidence, testified: "Judge Pickering conversed on some subjects rationally, but on others was incoherent, wild, and extravagant. I believe that his insanity was the cause of his intemperance, although it was not improbable that after his insanity had produced a degree of intemperance, the intemperance and insanity might act mutually as cause and effect." The Senate were not convinced by this reasoning, and dewere not convinced by this reasoning, and decided, by a vote of twenty to six, that Judge Pickering be removed from the office of judge. This lesson should not now be lost. If a man has ridden all his life, 'tisn't likely

It has been the avowed policy of our military authorities to encourage in every way desertions from the rebel armies. Certainly "that Governor Bramlette of Kentucky" can't be comprehended by those who have no comprehension. Governor Bramlette advises the adoption, by Kentucky, of the Constitutional Amendment for setting slaves free, but at the same time suggests, that, if the Federal Government, which has by its action made her slaves worthless, will pay her such a sum as will enable her to emancipate them without violating her own Constitution, she will emancipate them at once instead of awaiting the action, no one knows how far off, of the General Government. Is there anything in this that can't be com-prehended by a man capable of comprehending anything?

If Canada understands her own interests half as well as we think she does, she will prevent the getting up of any more rascally enterprises within her borders for making raid, into the United States. If she permits them, she will feel the consequences quite as much, probably, as we shall. She will learn wisdom eventually, but she may need a rough school-master

It might be well to have the testimony of ome high Federal officers in regard to the reatment of Federal prisoners in rebel prisons. So Generals Crook and Kelly, captured at Cumberland through their own carelessness, had perhaps better, before being exchanged, remain ong enough in Libby to be able to testify fully in regard to matters there.

February 16. WM. KAYE, Mayor.

FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 3 A. M.

We hope that not only those subject to the draft, but all persons who feel any interest in the welfare of our city, will cheerfully respond to the request of Mr. Nauts and render him, as well as the collectors in the various wards, such assistance as will effectually relieve the city from the draft. With money, recruits can be had in sufficient numbers to meet the requirements of the draft, and we urge our citizens to come forward at once with their subscriptions and contributions; for, as surely as we do not fill our quota by enlistments, the draft will be enforced in this District, possibly within the present month. Yesterday, a man by the name of Coyle was presented before the City Court, charged with violating one of the laws of Kentucky regulating recruiting in this State. Coyle is from Cincinnati, and has an office on the corner of Market and Fourth streets. Several of the police officers testified that they had suspected him of being engaged in this business for some time, but could not find sufficient proof. On Wednesday, he was observed on the mailboat, purchasing tickets for Cincinnati, and giving them to two men whom he had procured to go as substitutes. He was then arrested. This may be fun to the substitute-broker, who makes the money by the transactions, but it is death to our citizens, who are working and striving hard to free themselves from the draft. We subjoin the act of the Legislature regulating recruiting in this State, and to punish persons who violate the laws of Kentucky in relation thereto. The first section says: "That recruiting for military or naval service within the limits of Kentucky, except into the regular arms or naval service of the Government of the United States, or into organizations specially authorized by the State of Kentucky, is hereby prohibited." The second section of the act fixes the penalty: "Any person violating this act shall be subject to a fine of five hundred dollars for each recruit he obtains, to be collected as other fines, and to imprisonment for not less than two months nor more than six months in some county jail for each and every offence. The last clause reads that the offender is to be held until tried. It will be observed that this practice which Coyle is charged with is a very serious offence. This, the 17th of March, is "St. Patrick's Day in the Morning," and will be observed by the Hibernian race generally. Everybody has heard of St. Patrick, the apostle or patron Saint of Ireland, and is supposed by some to have been a native of Cornwall, whose zeal prompted him to cross the channel for the conversion of the pagan Irish. By others, however, he is said to have been a native of Kirkpatrick, on the Clyde, and that his name was Saccuthus until changed by Pope Celestine. Others, again, assert that he was born in Brittany, and carried by some freebooters to Ireland, where he was at first employed in keeping sheep. Be this as it may, it is allowed by all that his enare attributed to him, particularly the often-repeated assertion of the absence of all venomous creatures from Ireland, ascribed by the superstitious to his holy benediction. We can no more reconcile the conflicting testimonies relative to the place of his birth than we could determine the validity of his miraculeus powers: and perhaps, for the sake of truth, the least that is said of either the better. It would seem that the latter years of his life were devoted to acts of piety and religious meditation; and that he died at an advanced age about the year 493,

SUE MUNDY'S KINDNESS .- Sue Mundy, while standing on the gallows, in the presence of the multitude assembled to witness his execution, in the very face of death, solemnly declared that he had taken many prisoners during his wild career in Kenaucky, but had always treated them kindly. We do not know what Sue regarded as kind treatment, yet we do not believe that a single person who was ever taken prisoner by him can be found to come forward and testify to the falsity of this statement. We do not believe a single one can be found, for Mundy acted upon the principle, "Dead men tell no tales," and he brutally murdered every Federal soldier or Union citizen who was so unfortunate as to become his captive. The friends of the murdered men alone can come forward and contradict the statement, for the lips of the dead are mute. Sue Mundy treated prisoners kindly! A strange kindness, indeed! He murdered them in cold blood, and left the mangled bodies where they fell without giving them the poor shelter

ARTEMUS WARD .- Masonic Temple is crowded every night, and Artemus Ward keeps his udience convulsed with laughter. His viist to Utah and Salt Lake City furnished him with an abundance of material, out of which he has manufactured an untold number of huge jokes, teresting. His panorama deserves more than a passing notice. The scenes are painted from hotographs taken on the spot, therefore they not outrage nature. They are fine speci ens of scenic art, and alone are worth the ce of admission. The view of the Great Salt Lake, with a full moon rising above the shadows of the mountain tops, and shimmering on the crystal bosom of watery extent, is truly agnificent, and, when exhibited, never fails and the wildest applause. On Saturon a matinee will be given for the mefit of families and children. The price of dmission to all parts of the house will be twenty-five cents. The usual entertainment is af-

UNIFORMED POLICE—ORDINANCE REJECTED. The ordinance for the uniforming of the police our city was rejected at the meeting of the oard of Alderman last night almost unanicusly. We feel assured that this announcenent will occasion no little surprise among the cople of our city. The policemen were bitterly posed to the bill, and it appears that their uence was not exerted in vain. A number petitions in favor of the ordinance, signed by me of the most responsible and influential in Louisville, were presented to the Board. et the votes of the Aldermen were not affected reby. We trust that the people will act in matter, and hope to see the ordinance beme a law before the close of another year.

Mr. J. B. Robinson, agent for the Ohio Mississippi Railroad, informs us that sleepg-cars have been placed on the line, and pasgers for Cincinnati from Louisville can be ished with comfortable beds by making the nection at Seymour. This is an admirable angement, as the passenger arrives in the een City at five o'clock in the morning feelfresh and vigorous with a night's rest.

A day or two since Rev. Thomas Jones negro detective, with a squad of negro troops. went to the work-house and demanded the release of all the negro women who were incarce rated within the prison walls, producing his authority for this proceeding. The negro women were ordered there by the Judge of the City Court for misdemeanors, and even for felony. The keeper of the prison, Mr. Kirkpatrick, protested, and with the Judge and City Attorney, appealed to Gen. Palmer. The General was perfectly surprised at the negro's conduct, and stated that he authorized him only to inquire where colored men were imprisoned for refusing to go as substitutes, as he understood that such was the case. The General also assured the Judge that he would heartily co-operate with the civil authorities in bringing guilty parties to justice, and that the conduct above alluded to was a gross mistake on the part of the negro.

SUE MUNDY'S CAP .- A quarrel ensued near the gallows at the time Sue Mundy was executed for the possession of the cap he had worn. The cap was placed on a chair on the gallows, and a white covering placed over the prisoner's face. After he was cut down, a clamorous crowd gathered around the scaffold to secure a piece of the cord as a souvenir. At the same time two or three disputed for the cap. The parties were arrested, and brought before the Provost Marshal for disorderly conduct and sent to the Barracks. But the most singular part to relate is that the brand of "Green & Green" i on the inside. The question is, did Sue Mundy ress the cap from some wayworn traveller, or was it purchased by himself at the store of Green & Green's. It is at present at the Provost Marshal's office.

CAPTURE OF REBEL OFFICERS .- A telegram was received from Clarksville on Tuesday at District Headquarters at Nashville, reporting the capture of a Lieutenant-Colonel, Adjutant and three men, with their horses and equipments, on Sunday last, near that place. The expedition consisted of a squad of mounted infantry under Sergeant Abby. The prisoner belonged to Colonel Malone's regiment, of yon's command, and were scouting for hostages when they were "gobbled." Some of yon's men are prisoners at Clarksville, and the rebel General has been trying for some time east to get "even" with us, but he has a very 'odd" way of accomplishing his design. The "boys in blue" are "bearding the Lyon in his len" almost every day.

GUERILLAS IN BULLITT COUNTY .- A small and of guerillas, under two brothers, named Viggington, entered Pitt's Point, Bullitt county, on Wednesday, and demanded two hundre dollars of the citizens, but were informed that they were too poor to raise that amount. The men left announcing that they would return vesterday and burn the town if the money wa not raised, and accordingly the inhabitant were aroused early in the morning by the firing of guns. They committed some robberie among which was the taking of sixty dollars deavors were crowned with great success, and from a young lady. On Tuesday afternoon, about forty bou jumpers arrived at Covington, Ky., under guard, en route for Lexington. They were most villanous set of rascals, and conducted themselves in the most outrageous manner while there. About six o'clock in the evening they were marched to the depot, and, while waiting for the train to back down from the 'Round-house," one of them set fire to a frame hanty near the railroad office, the flames from which would, no doubt, have quickly commucicated to adjoining buildings had they not een promptly extinguished. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: Why is it there is so much industry displayed on the street cleaning at this time? There is no occasion for it now when the streets are comparatively free of dirt and mud. The wonder with everybody what can be the occasion? I it to employ every street-cleaner in the city to influence his vote at the coming election? I can't believe this is so, and yet I am constantly told it is for that purpose. A communication was sent to Sherman on the 11th by a courier, escorted by a regiment of cavalry. This was rendered necessary by the strong parties of rebel scouts and guerillas on the approaches to Wiimigton. Sherman's couriers narrowly escaped, and were driven to make a deteur of forty miles. They represent the people dwelling along the route as strongly favoring the Union, and anxious for the appearance of the Northern army. The Boston Advertiser's special says of Gen. Grant's order suspending all the trade permits: This order, it will be seen, strikes down at one sweep the whole brood of cotton, tobacco, and turpentine speculators, setting aside the permits of special agents, cabinet ministers, and even of the President himself. HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF KENTUCKY. LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 12, 1865. General Orders, No. 10.

The General commanding announces to the colored men of Kentucky that by an act of Congress passed on the 2d day of March, 1865, the wives and children of all colored men who have heretofore enlisted or who may be reafter culist in the military service of the Governbereafter enlist in the military service of the Government are made free.

This act of justice to the soldiers claims from them ranewed efforts, by courage, fortitude, and disciplice, to win a good name to be shared by a free wife and free children. To colored men not in the army it offers an apportunity to coin freecom for themselves and their posterity.

The rights secured to colored soldiers under this law will, if necessary, be enforced by the military authorities of this Department, and it is expected that she loyal men to enlist in the army, and after they have done so, ecognize them as upholders of their Government and effenders of their homes, and exercise toward the helpiess women and children made free by this law, that beavolence and charity which has always characterized the people of the State.
